UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

COLLEGES AND SCHOOLS.

The several departments comprise:

I. The College of Agriculture.

II. The College of Engineering, including the Schools of Mechanical Engineering, Civil Engineering, Mining Engineering, and Architecture.

III. The College of Natural Science, including the Schools of Chemistry and Natural History.

IV. The College of Literature and Science, including the Schools of English and Modern Languages, and of Ancient Languages.

The college year opens in September, but students may enter at any time if prepared to pass the examinations.

The University is open to both sexes. Candidates must be at least fifteen years of age, and must pass thorough examinations in English Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography, History of the United States, Physiology, Botany, Natural Philosophy, Elements of Rhetoric and Composition, Algebra, Geometry—plane and solid—and, if candidates for the College of Ancient Languages, in the usual preparatory Latin and Greek; for the course in English and Modern Languages the Greek may be omitted.

Tuition free: Matriculation fee $10, paid but once; incidental fee, per term, $7.50. Board in clubs, $2 to $2.50 a week; in families, $4 to $5.

PRELIMINARY YEAR.—To meet the wants of students who cannot pass the above examinations, a preliminary year of instruction is provided, the studies of which are as follows: Algebra, Physiology, Geometry, English, Natural Philosophy, Botany; Cicero, Virgil, Greek Grammar, Anabasis. Candidates for this year must pass good examinations in the common branches, such as are required for a second grade teacher's certificate. County superintendents may make this examination.

No matriculation fee is charged for this year, but students will pay a tuition fee of $5 per term, and the incidental fee of $7.50.

LABORATORIES AND SHOPS.

The ruling idea of the University is that in all scientific training practice should keep pace with theory. To this end a large and increasing supply of facilities for illustration has been secured.

THE FARM occupies 610 acres of land; has large barns; thoroughbred cattle, Short-horns, Jerseys, Herefords, Holsteins; sheep, swine, poultry; orchards, vineyard, forest plantation, experimental grounds; Veterinary Hall, with stables and regular clinic. Greenhouses, flower plantations, etc.

THE CHEMICAL LABORATORY contains large rooms for qualitative and quantitative analysis; rooms for gas analysis, assaying, mineralogy, pharmacy, photography, etc. THE PHYSICAL LABORATORY has apparatus for illustration and study of all physical subjects, particular prominence being given to electricity. THE BOTANICAL LABORATORY has a growing herbarium and excellent suite of microscopic stands, objectives, slides, etc. THE ZOOLOGICAL LABORATORY has also supply of microscopes and materials for thorough biological investigation.

THE MACHINE SHOP has steam engine giving motive power to an equipment of engine and speed lathes, drill-presses, planers, shapers, etc. A Blacksmith Shop has sixteen fires, with appropriate tools. The Foundry gives instruction in moulding and casting, and the Pattern Room furnishes training in woodwork and pattern-making.

THE CARPENTERS' SHOP has also machinery driven by steam for all forms of dressing lumber, and bench equipment for practice in joinery, cabinet work, etc., etc.

There have lately been added at the shops a Riehle Testing Machine, with a capacity of 100,000 pounds, for testing strength of materials; and a Weston Dynamo, of 5 arc light capacity, for experimental purposes.

THE MUSEUMS of Natural History, of Fine Art, and of Industrial Art, and the Library, grow yearly in attractiveness, and as important aids to all forms of study and research.

For circulars, giving full information, address, S. H. PEABODY, Regent, Champaign, Illinois.

CHICAGO:

NORTHWESTERN DIRECTORY COMPANY, PUBLISHERS,

1890.

PREFACE . .

THE Publishers, in presenting to the citizens of Champaign and Urbana this edition of a Directory of their cities, do not claim that it is perfect, but they have spared no pains to make it as nearly so as any work of the kind can be.

As a publication pro bono publico, it is therefore a success; from a financial point of view, for the publishers, it has proved the opposite.

The population of Champaign is estimated at 7,300; of Urbana at 4,100.

Thanking all those who, by their liberal patronage, assisted in the production of this volume, and thereby proved themselves citizens in every sense of the word, they remain,

Respectfully,
